I believe that the Federal Government can be more responsive to the claimants in this "Settlement", and void the "Settlement" as it is at this time.

Microsoft needs to be made aware of how serious their Anti-Trust actions have affected their competitors, and the Voting Public.

The penalties imposed are not severe enough, nor do they change the business practices of Microsoft to a more ethical standard.

Breaking up the company may be too severe, however large monetary fines, and the restriction from engaging in any outside enterprise that is now competitive, should be included.
